

Corporate

Launch of New Websites per Division

Watt & Well launches new websites for its three division: Electric Mobility, Aerospace and Oil & Gas. The newly designed websites are available at wattandwell.com. Massy, France. 2021.05.10

Step change power electronics in Electric Mobility, Aerospace and Oil & Gas

The new websites reflect Watt & Well growth and advancements in recent years. Watt & Well is an award-winning, full-service engineering (software, hardware) and electrical equipment designer that specializes in high reliable power electronics. Since 2017, the company structured its business model into three markets. Since then, became the power electronics equipment provider for industrial pioneers willing to disrupt their respective market with step-changing products.

Each market has its own specific requirement whether it is on the compliance and standards field or technological expertise. Watt & Well, through the years, successfully built and ramped up its level of expertise in power electronics applied to specific applications in these three markets. The result of more than a decade of experience and gathered knowledge of markets' requirement and customers need, allows us today to offer a dedicated interface of experts.

Watt & Well team of engineers and PhDs work daily to execute and maintain the highest product quality and outstanding customer service.

A full-on unique experience

Each of our website is a full-on unique experience. Whether you are interested in our electric mobility, aerospace, or oil & gas product and services, you will intuitively navigate through a clean design that displays Watt & Well's core value, wide-ranging services and series of documented products.

In the oil & gas website you will find our downhole power electronics product series for wireline and drilling applications. In the aerospace website you will find the high-end motor controllers' products and design. In electric mobility you will find the latest electric vehicle chargers power units.

The websites also feature insights including an event calendar and social media share tools. So please feel free to visit us anytime to learn about our presence in B2B fairs and share our news!

About Watt & Well

Watt & Well is a power electronic equipment supplier for aerospace, oilfield services, electric mobility and industrial markets. Since 2008, Watt & Well support designers of technological systems face the toughest challenges by designing, qualifying and manufacturing turnkey products, using reliable techniques in the most demanding industries (compliance). The company employs expert- engineers and many talents, all spread over France (Paris region and Aix-en-Provence region) and the USA (Houston, Texas).

Visit us

Corporate: <https://wattandwell.com/>

Aerospace: <https://aerospace.wattandwell.com/>

Electric mobility: <https://emobility.wattandwell.com/>

Oil & Gas: <https://oilandgas.wattandwell.com/>

About Watt & Well

Watt & Well is a power electronic equipment supplier for aerospace, oilfield services, electric mobility and industrial markets. Since 2008, Watt & Well support designers of technological systems face the toughest challenges by designing, qualifying and manufacturing turnkey products, using reliable techniques in the most demanding industries (compliance). The company employs expert- engineers and many talents, all spread over France (Paris region and Aix-en-Provence region) and the USA (Houston, Texas).